(b) if so, the reaction of Government thereto;

(c) whether Government have assessed the size and level of the system for providing medical facilities to the whole population of the country; and

(d) if so, the extent of additional increase which is required in the present system and by when it is targeted to be implemented?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE (SHRIMATI PANABAKA LAKSHMI): (a) to (d) It is estimated that around 20% of the country's requirement of health care is met through public health care system and remaining through the private health care systems. The Government has set up a National Rural Health Mission which seeks to provide effective health care to rural population throughout the country. It has as its key components provision of a female health activist in each village; a village health plan prepared through a local team headed by the Health and Sanitation Committee of the Panchayat; strengthening of the rural hospital for effective curative care and made measurable and accountable to the community through Indian Public Health Standards (IPHS); and integration of vertical Health and Family Welfare Programmes and Funds for optimal utilization of funds and infrastructure and strengthening delivery of primary health care. The total outlay for the National Rural Health Mission for the year 2005-06 is Rs. 6371.156 crore. The major components are targeted to be implemented during 2005-08.

In addition, 6 AIIMS like institutions are being set up in the under-served areas of the country and another 7 institutions in the States are being upgraded to that level by grant of a one-time assistance under Pradhan Mantri Swasthya Suraksha Yojana (PMSSY). The outlay for the PMSSY for the year 2005-06 is Rs. 250 crores. Start up activities have already been taken up.
